

AN AMBITIOUS VIOLINIST.

Surgical Operation On His Fingers to Make Him More Deft.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 28.—A most peculiar surgical operation has just been performed on Herbert Saylor, son of Dr. J. Koons Saylor. So unusual was it that the young man had some difficulty to secure a physician willing to do what he, Saylor, needed, in his opinion, to improve his chances in reaching the goal of his ambition, becoming a good violinist. The operation consisted of removing a piece of flesh from the end of each finger, and, with stitches, drawing the remaining flesh together. This was done at the Hahnemann Hospital, Philadelphia. During the healing period there will be from four to six stitches in each finger.

Many surgeons believed the operation would destroy the sensitiveness of the tips of the fingers, but young Saylor thoroughly believed it would be a great advantage to him in his life's profession. He is gifted as a musician, and studied under this country's best tutors. Next month he will go to Leipzig, Germany, where he will study for three years.
